

Is Your Electrical System Talking To You?

Now That The Fireworks Are Over — If you hear any snap, bang, or pop sounds in your home, it could very well be your electrical system telling you there is something wrong.

If you hear any unusual sounds coming from your electrical system or if your breakers are tripping more than just every once and a while, call us to schedule an electrical safety inspection. A light repair today can keep your family and your home safe, not to mention it will save you from expensive emergency repairs in the future.

July 4th Traditions You May Not Know About

- Greens Instead Of Red, White, & Blue - When red, white, and blue colored decorations were not commonly available, George Washington and his soldiers wore greens in their caps in celebration of their recently founded freedom.
- Hot Dog Eating Contests - The Nathan's Hot Dog Eating Contest is set on July 4th every year. The 2020 men's champion ate 75 hot dogs in a 10-minute contest - setting a new world record.
- Lobster Racing - Since 1978, a YMCA in Bar Harbor, Maine has held Fourth Of July Lobster Races as a fundraising event, with local businesses paying to sponsor lobsters for naming rights.
- Parade Of Boats - The Murrells Inlet Annual Boat Parade first started in 1984, with local boat captains parading their red, white, and blue decorated vessels for all to see.

Did You Know July Is "National Anti-Boredom Month"?

We've Got Some Tips To Help Fight Boredom

If you're stuck at home, with delays and cancellations in your previously planned summer fun, it's easy to get bored. You can only stare at your screens and video streaming services for so long. Let's talk about a few simple ways to bust out of that cycle of boredom.

- Take Up That New Hobby - Whether it is crafting, learning a new language, or learning to cook - chances are that between online delivery services and what you have in your home, the hours you'd normally spend in from of your TV can be better spent on that new hobby
- Go Old School With Board Games - If your family usually isn't into board games, you can incentivize family members with a prize for the winner. Something as simple as getting to avoid that most hated household chore could be enough to get any child (or adult!) more interested in playing the game.
- Try Virtual Classes - From learning computer code through yoga instruction, there are a lot of online learning and live virtual classes that are exploding in popularity. You can try a new activity from the comfort and privacy of your own home.
- Hang Out While Staying In - Between Zoom happy hours and the "Netflix Party" program, you don't have any excuse for not spending a little face time or group chat time together.
