

The Tur-Key To A Great Thanksgiving - Celebrating Togetherness

Sure - that fried turkey is great, and Aunt Sally's candied yams are always a favorite. While the great food is what incentivizes us to come to the table, it's the family togetherness and time celebrating our friends that is really what Thanksgiving and the holiday season, in general, are all about!

Past the potatoes, beyond the Brussels sprouts, and after the apple pie - Thanksgiving celebrations always remind us to enjoy the time we have with loved ones today and help us to fondly recall and retell family stories about those who are no longer with us.

This Thanksgiving - steal a bit of time for yourself to look around your dinner table or take the extra few minutes to call a family member or friend who couldn't make it out for turkey day - and remember to be in the moment and thankful.

As always, we thank all of you for being our customers and helping us to take care of our families, too! We wish you a very happy, memory-filled Thanksgiving!

A Little Extra Prep For A Flawless Thanksgiving Feast

Thanksgiving can be stressful if you're playing party host -- but taking time to plan out your menu and prepping a to-do list will make life all the easier!

- Confirm Your Guest List Early...
 - Knowing your guest list helps you create more solid plans regarding how much prep work needs to be done in your home and how much food you need. Get firm commitments on numbers earlier instead of later.
- ...And Ask Them To Bring Something
 - Most turkey day guests will be happy they don't have to deal with the party planning and hosting, so they'll be happy to bring whatever side dish, dessert, or supplies you need! While you should keep some of the core food items on your to-do list, just in case people unexpectedly drop out (things like turkey and an easy side dish or two), assign individual guests with their unique assignments. You know your party guests, so play to their strengths. Some people are naturally better at cooking a fancy dessert, while others on your guest list may be better suited to your drink and ice-running needs!
- Get Your Property Ready NOW Instead Of Later
 - When it comes to the week before Thanksgiving, you'll be focused on clearing out space in your fridge and setting your cooking schedule -- not on housework and property prep. If you need any upgrades that require our help - that needs to happen now before you run out of time!
